DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 58-59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sonobe et al. (US 6,054,716).

With regard to claims 58-59, Sonobe et al. disclose a semiconductor light-emitting device (col. 8, line 35 et seq. and fig. 1a) comprising:

- A seal member 6 formed of an insulating resin (col. 8, line 53);
- A tab 11 whose back side is exposed to a mounting surface of the seal member 6, the tab 11 having, on a surface opposite to the back side, a semiconductor chip 3 fixing area and wire connection areas 4 (col. 8, line 40 and fig. 1a);
- Tab suspension leads 1 and 2 contiguous to the tab (fig. 1a);
- A plurality of leads 1 and 2 whose back sides are exposed to the mounting surface of the seal member 6 (fig. 1a);
- A semiconductor chip 3 positioned within the seal member 6 and fixed through an adhesive onto the semiconductor chip fixing area in such a manner that a back side of the semiconductor chip 3 is opposed to the semiconductor chip fixing area

Art Unit: 2814

(col. 9, lines 43-45 and fig. 1a), the semiconductor chip has electrodes formed on a main surface of the semiconductor chip 3 (fig. 1a);

- Electrically conductive wires 4 for electrically connecting the electrodes of the semiconductor chip and surfaces of the leads 1 and 2 and electrically connecting the electrodes on the semiconductor chip 3 and the wire connecting areas on the tab (col. 8, lines 50-53 and fig. 1a), where the tab 11 is formed larger than the semiconductor chip 3 so that outer peripheral edges of the tab 11 are positioned outside outer peripheral edges of the semiconductor chip 3 (fig. 1a), and where the tab 11 has first sides formed at the semiconductor chip fixing area and second sides opposed to the first sides, formed between the semiconductor chip fixing area and the wiring connecting areas (fig. 1a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 60-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sonobe et al. (US 6,054,716) in view of Uemura (US 6,310,364).

With regard to claim 60, Sonobe et al. disclose the tab 11 and surfaces of leads 1 and 2 have wire connection areas, but do not disclose a plating film selectively formed on the wire connection areas. However, Uemura discloses applying solder or silver paste on the lead frame 50a and 50b (Uemura col. 6, lines 6-7 and fig. 1). Uemura teaches the solder or silver paste makes the connection between the lead frame 50a and 50b with the bonding pad 11a and 11b relative ease (Uemura col. 6, lines 6-12). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Sonobe's device with the teaching of Uemura to provide a plating film (solder or silver paste) in order to make the connections relative ease.

With regard to claims 61-62, Sonobe et al. disclose the tab 11 is circular (fig. 1b), but do not disclose the tab is quadrangular shape, where the first and second sides are formed selectively in a mutually independent manner, or where the width of the surface of the tab is larger than a width of the back side. However, selecting different shape of tab is considered as changes in shape of the product. The changes in shape of the product are held to have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art. In re Daily 149 USPQ 47, 50 (CCPA 1966). See also Glue Co. v. Upton 97 US 3, 24 (USSC 1878).
